MY EXPERIENCE

Conduction of Social Awareness Programme.
A social awareness programme was organised by our university where we had to aware the villagers of Berta Haranya about AIDS. Many activities were planned accordingly were Natak survey were done also there was survey planned where, what people of that village already knew about this virus was recorded.

Almost 100 people's survey was taken in performing of the Natak we made them aware how this virus can happen to a certain person and what is to be followed & what is not to be followed. Overall it was a very good experience & exposure for me.

AIDS

We have to actively promote openness about HIV and AIDS and create a more supportive environment for people living with HIV and AIDS.

Unless we bring the disease into the open, we cannot deal with it effectively. If we cannot break the silence ourselves, we cannot expect the rest of society to do so.

- Encourage & support people living with HIV and AIDS to go public about their status.
- Ask people living with HIV & AIDS to sit on platforms & speak at meetings with our leaders.
- Encouraging testing by organising testing drives.

Conclusion

In conclusion, as increasingly childhood disability is not solely considered as reflecting an impairment of the child but as resulting from a complex interaction among the child. However some health conditions interfere with developmental processes and may result in lifelong disability. All children are guaranteed right to participate in school, society and become aware of what is happening around us.

My Experience

My experience on social awareness activity was very good and satisfactory. We went to some schools near our university. We spread awareness among the children about Swachh Bharat Abhiyan and AIDS, through a Nukkad Natak. After the Nukkad Natak we picked some garbage and took a survey of people in the nearby locality, about what they understood through our play and what are they aware of these problems and what are they doing to prevent such diseases. We enjoyed a lot during this activity as we interacted with different kinds of people with different mindsets.

ADITYA (Special Children)

My experience on the special children is that I met a lot of special children. I saw that the teaching procedure in this type of school is different. In these children, it includes communication disabilities, learning disabilities and corporeal disabilities.

Their children teacher teaches them as a normal child. But they use some of methodically scrutinized custom made tools and equipment along with their accessible settings.

They get the individual attention. But there was a lack of staff. The staff wasn't well trained. They have different times for classes for their disabilities also.
