Course Description

This course on Feminism and Social Justice is designed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of feminism as a social and political movement, its historical context, and its impact on achieving social justice. Participants will explore the core principles of feminism, intersectionality, and the various waves of feminism, examining how these concepts relate to broader social justice issues and advocating for gender equality.

Course Objectives

The course will enable the students to:

- Understand the history and evolution of the feminist movement.
- Explore the core principles of feminism, including gender equality, reproductive rights, and intersectionality.
- Examine the impact of feminism on social justice issues and advocacy.
- Analyze the intersection of gender with other dimensions of social identity, such as race, class, and sexuality.
- Evaluate the role of feminism in addressing systemic discrimination and inequality.
- Foster critical thinking and advocacy skills to promote gender equality and social justice.
- Reflect on the future of feminism and its evolving role in society.

Course Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- CO1: Trace the historical development of feminism as a social and political movement.
- CO2: Discuss the core principles and values of feminism and how they relate to social justice.
- CO3: Analyze the intersectionality of gender and its connection to other aspects of social identity.
- CO4: Evaluate the impact of feminism on addressing systemic inequalities and discrimination.
- CO5: Advocate for gender equality and social justice issues in a thoughtful and informed manner.
- CO6: Engage in discussions on contemporary feminist and social justice topics.
- CO7: Reflect on the evolving role of feminism in addressing present and future societal challenges.
