Regarding Membership ID 11151114

Diwakar Padalia joined the Materials Research Society on January 1, 2023 and is a member through December 31, 2023.

MRS is an international organization of more than 13,300 materials researchers from academia, industry and government, and a recognized leader in promoting the advancement of interdisciplinary materials research to improve the quality of life. MRS members are engaged and enthusiastic professionals hailing from physics, chemistry, biology, mathematics and engineering—the full spectrum of materials research.

Headquartered in Warrendale, Pennsylvania (USA), MRS membership now spans over 80 countries, with more than 49% of members residing outside the United States. In addition to its communications and publications portfolio, MRS organizes high-quality scientific meetings, attracting over 13,000 attendees annually and facilitating interactions among a wide range of experts from the cutting edge of the global materials community. MRS is also a recognized leader in education outreach and advocacy for scientific research. More information about the Materials Research Society can be found on its Web site, www.mrs.org.

To become a member of the Society, an individual must be actively engaged in work relating to the research and development of advanced materials or materials processes.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or desire any additional information regarding your participation in the Materials Research Society.
