YOUR PROGRAMME OF STUDY

Programme contents and information about learning and teaching for your chosen programme can be viewed on our website. The University reserves the right to make variations to programme contents, entry requirements and methods of delivery, and to discontinue, merge or combine programmes, both before and after a student's admission to the University, if such action is reasonably considered necessary by the University and will notify you via email where a substantial change is made to your programme of study.

In the event that, prior to the student commencing the first term of study for any programme described in our prospectus, the University discontinues the programme, the student may either (1) withdraw from the University without any liability for fees; or (2) transfer to such other programme (if any) as may be offered by the University for which the student is qualified. If in these circumstances the student wishes to withdraw from the University and to enrol in a course at a different University, the University shall use its reasonable endeavours to assist the student.

Once the student has commenced the first term of study, if:

- (a) the University's ability to deliver programmes or other services in accordance with the descriptions provided is compromised by circumstances beyond the control of the University (e.g. third party industrial action), the University will use all reasonable endeavours to minimise disruption as far as it is practical to do so;
