A REPORT ON WEBINAR “PROJECT BASED LEARNING: ENHANCED LEARNING WITH PBL” ORGANIZED BY SCHOOL OF BASIC AND APPLIED SCIENCE

A webinar on “Project Based Learning: Enhanced Learning with PBL” was organized by School of Basic and Applied Science department on 30th June 2021 from 11:00 am onwards at online platform. The webinar was delivered by Dr. Vinita Khatri, Assistant Professor (Physics), Department of Basic Science and Humanities, NMIMS, Vile Parle, Mumbai. Dr. Neeraj Kumari started the event by giving some brief introduction about the event and Dr. Mina Yadav welcomed the expert by giving her introduction and contribution in the field of enhanced learning.

The main purpose for conducting this webinar is to make the students about project based learning and different techniques through which they can enhance this skill. One-hour interactive session drew the attention of students as well as faculty members towards enhanced learning skill.

Dr. Khatri started her lecture from introduction of project-based learning which is an instructional approach designed to give students the opportunity to develop knowledge and skills through engaging projects set around challenges and problems they may face in the real world. She explained and cleared all myths about project-based learning that it is time taking, hard to manage and only for old students. She said that although definitions and project parameters may vary from school to school, and PBL is sometimes used interchangeably with "experiential learning" or "discovery learning," the characteristics of project-based learning are clear and constant. In essence, the PBL model consists of these seven characteristics:

- Focuses the student on a big open-ended question, challenge, or problem to research and respond to and/or solve.
- Brings what students should academically know, understand, and be able to do into the equation.
- Is inquiry-based.
- Uses 21st-century skills such as critical thinking, communication, collaboration, and creativity, among others.

She emphasized one of the central features of high quality project-based learning is the pedagogical relationship between the Driving Question and the “Need to Knows” that stem from it. She explained how teachers and schools, using a process of rich inquiry, can leverage great thinking and learning by flipping how you approach the concepts behind Bloom’s Taxonomy.

In the end, Dr. Meena Bhandari, Dean, School of Basic and Applied Science gave a vote of thanks to the dignitary on request of Dr. Neeraj Kumari.

5 myths about Project-based learning

- PBL is same as “making something”, “hands on learning”, or “doing an activity”.
- PBL is not standard based. It focuses on “soft skills” like critical thinking and collaboration, but doesn’t teach enough content knowledge and academic skills.
- PBL takes too much time.
- PBL is only for older students..or fluent English speakers..or those who don’t have learning disabilities.
- PBL is too hard to manage and/ or would not fit with my learning/ teaching style.
