The underlying aim of good communication is that it has to be understood correctly.

Objective

To evaluate communication skills among the targeted students for better interaction during studies as well as in their day to day professional life.

Content

This was an offline in house programme wherein students were instructed to write on a blank sheet of paper the words like what, when, where, why and who down the left side of the page, leaving space to the right of each word to think of a topic they need information about (e.g., any disease, information technology, drug delivery system etc). Students were asked to create a relevant questions that comes into their mind concerning their topic starting with what, when, where, why and who. SOET organized and event on "How Technology contribute to world peace and Harmony"

School of Engineering and Technology of K.R. Mangalam University organized an event on "How Technology contributes to World Peace and Harmony" (International Day of Conscience) on 5th April 2023. Digital technologies provide peace builders with user-friendly, efficient and scalable tools that not only improve programming and communications, but can also create alternative infrastructures for peace challenging dominant conflict narratives and fostering positive communication and social cohesion between conflict groups.

The benefits of Digital technologies - electronic tools, software, platforms, systems and devices that help generate, store and transfer data are playing an increasingly vital role in advancing peace building activities around the world. To promote students how increased connectivity has led to the development of powerful online communities, who are reshaping the social contract between state and citizenry and are providing key opportunities to build more inclusive and equitable societies. To promote students how technologies are being employed by autocratic states and conflict actors for sophisticated methods of censorship, surveillance and dis/misinformation, which are creating new divisions and inciting violence that can manifest itself offline. Outcome: The use of technology for peace, otherwise known as 'peace tech', has grown in prominence over the last decade and has generated innovative tech-based solutions to tackle drivers of conflict and insecurity. Many people are working to build peace turned to technological tools, knowledge and resources to adapt their work in the changed global dynamic.

Effective Communication skills play a crucial role in honing one's personality. Communication helps individuals to express themselves in the most convincing way. Our thoughts, feelings and knowledge must be passed on in the most desirable manner and effective communication skills help us in the same. Among entrepreneurs, effective communication skills comprise the most important skill required. The importance of communication needs to be viewed as a core value in the farming business. In this regard, SOAS organized a workshop for enhancing communication skills among the Agri-entrepreneurs. The resource person for the workshop was Mr. Neeraj Singh, Director of Training, KRMU. The workshop started by introduction of students about their family background, their hobbies, and their aim in life. Students also discussed with Mr. Neeraj about why they want to pursue career in agriculture field. Mr. Neeraj also discussed with students that much of communication is nonverbal, so mastering the body language presentation is a must. Good communication builds a strong bond and comprehension within a business and its employees and sets clear expectations. Employees with sharp communication skills simplify processes with persistent discussions, brainstorming and feedbacks to improve on the required areas, thus building a mutually benefitted working environment. The workshop proved really beneficial for the students of SOAS as they gained knowledge regarding the importance of good communication skills and how their skills can be enhanced which will further help them in achieving their ultimate aim in life as an Agri-entrepreneur.
